Introduction to Architronics

Architronics has been in the business of designing and installing residential and corporate electronics systems since 1994. From control touchpanels that automate and simplify use, to high performance home theatres, networked entertainment systems, property-wide lighting controls and fully-managed living environments, our staff has the knowledge and the experience to bring the best results to your project.

We take pride in being focused on the specific needs and wishes of our customer. In a world of ever-evolving technology and possibilities, we understand the value of a consultative and informative approach.

Our mission is to bring to each and every project the deepest knowledge, the highest level of attention to customer preferences, the greatest diligence and detail, the most skilled execution, and above all, the utmost integrity.
